

- Flint Journal -

Home > Flint News

Fenton native and Vietnam veteran to appear in film about Monroe soldier killed in Afghanistan

Published: Wednesday, June 08, 2011, 10:00 AM Updated: Thursday, June 09, 2011, 8:38 AM

By Beata Mostafavi | Flint Journal

Flint Journal File Photo

Master Sgt. Jeffrey Rector has since rejoined the Army as a funeral conductor after serving in Vietnam from 1970-71.

FENTON, Michigan — Fenton native Master Sgt. Jeffrey Rector will appear in another film honoring veterans — this time about fallen soldier Sgt. Michael Ingram who was killed in Afghanistan.

Filmmaker Keith Famie, who last year featured Rector in "Our Vietnam Generation," will premier his new film about Ingram called "One Soldier's Story" June 14.

Ingram's story is told by his father Michael Ingram, Sr., of Monroe, and Rector, a U.S.

Army Reserve Casualty Assistance Coordinator who handled funeral arrangements for the Ingram family.

The one-hour film is set to premier at the Emagine Theater in Canton. Doors open at 6:30 p.m.

There will be a $20 donation, with all proceeds benefiting Mikie's Minutes, a charity created by the Ingram family in honor of their son that provide military members with free phone minutes.

http://www.mlive.com/news/flint/index.ssf/2011/06/fenton_native_and_veteran_to_a.html